Subject Access Request Form: Guidance

Your right to request access to your personal records:

The Data Protection Act 1998 gives you the right to access the personal data relating to you that AIESEC UK Ltd. is processing. This is known as a Subject Access Request (SAR).

> The person to whom the personal data refers is the data subject

> AIESEC UK Ltd is the data controller

Who can make a Subject Access Request (SAR)?

> Any individual can make a SAR. In addition an individual may nominate a representative (such as a solicitor or relative) to apply on their behalf. In this case, there must be a valid consent signed by the individual who authorises the release of information to the representative.

> A person who has parental responsibility for a young child can request access to the child's records. Release of records is usually only made in the best interests of the child. Children may apply themselves – where it is considered that the child has the competence to be able to understand the nature and implications of making a SAR. If they are considered competent, they should also be consulted regarding any request that has been made for their records by another individual, for example a person with parental responsibility. The competence of the child in respect of requests for records can be considered from the age of 12.

> For those lacking the mental capacity to make the request or consent to someone else gaining access to their records, there are various legal procedures in place. In some circumstances, you may make a request on their behalf if you have been granted power of attorney or agent by a court to manage their affairs. The right of access to records must be covered in the powers granted by the power of attorney or court appointment. In the absence of a power of attorney or court appointment, we may be able to make a "best interests" decision to release the records but will need to know more about the purpose for which they have been requested in order to do so.

Why does AIESEC UK LTD ask for my details?

We ask for your name, address and relationship to AIESEC UK to enable us to identify and locate your personal data in our records.

Please identify the personal data which you would like access to and provide any additional information which would assist us in locating this data as quickly as possible.

In order to ensure that the privacy and security of the personal information requested is maintained, we must ask you to provide some proof of identification and address so that we are certain that we only send personal data to the data subject or their authorised representative.

How long will it take AIESEC UK Ltd to respond to my request?

We will respond to your request within 40 calendar days from receipt of your identification information

What identification information is required?

If you are making a request for information on behalf of someone else, then we will require proof that you are authorised to receive this information and verification of your identity.

A data subject may give another person authorisation to access their records. This authorisation must be provided in writing with a signature that can be verified against the data subject's identity documents.

If the data subject is unable to provide authorisation, then only a registered authority – such as a court-appointed agent or someone who holds a lasting power of attorney for the data subject – can make a Subject Access Request on their behalf. Evidence of this authority, along with proof of identify must be supplied for the purposes of information security.

Any identification information supplied with a Subject Access Request will be kept securely and in confidence. The information will not be used for any purpose other than verification of the requestors' identities and will be securely destroyed three years after the request has been closed.

It is advisable to send these documents by special delivery or tracked delivery so that they are accounted for in transit and there is a documented record of their arrival.

How will the information be provided?

In most cases, copies of the records will be made and sent to you by registered or recorded post (or you can collect the copies if you prefer). If you would prefer to view the records, we will arrange a suitable time and location for you to do so. A qualified member of staff will be in attendance to provide advice on any aspect of the records.
